Due to the overwhelming success of our online label contest for CX/FX produced labels during Labelexpo in Brussels this year, we decided to do it again – this time for our short- to mid-run LX-series printers.

This new online contest is running from now until 13th of December 2013 and everyone can participate by sending up to three pictures of their labelled products to contest@primera.eu or mail the physical labelled products by post to us.

The labels should contain a Christmassy or winterly element and must be produced on either LX-series label printer and/or FX foil printer systems. All participating labels will be displayed at an album on our Facebook page.

NEW: Royal Case Study

The Chiltern Valley Winery, Brewery and B&B is a business passionately committed to providing their customers with products which are uniquely hand crafted to the highest standards, linked with a service which is friendly and informed.

In the labelling facilities at Chiltern Valley's modern production, bottling and labelling plant was using a thermal printer, technical challenging and expensive. They wanted to really raise the quality standards of its labelling.

They arranged a demonstration of the LX900e, and the rest, as they say, is history. The LX900e prints at the same speeds as the old device, but the quality is far higher.

"The whole printing process is now much easier and, just as importantly, accurate. High quality colour labels are easily printable," said Mr. Ealand.
